

My invention

If I had to make an invention I would make a Chore Robot. I would make this because it can do anything you say. For example , I would say 'Do my homework!' in a flash , it would have your books out and would be writing away.

It is shiny silver and gold. It had buttons to switch it off and it has a machine for cleaning itself. It is a very clever working robot you see , he can clean your room , bathroom , and any room without you telling it to!

It can bring your dog on walks and feed any type of animal in your house. It can just do anything. It can be your alarm by going around in circles screaming 'GET UP GET UP' . If you are so busy you don't have anytime to go anywhere , it will teleport you there.

It can transform into any vehicle, even a gigantic boat! It will honestly do anything for you.

If I could, I would buy my own invention.
